In this crucial time of COVID-19 Labs are shut and Research placed on hold. Virtual symposia play an important role in helping scientist to stay connected with their community. Help has been forthcoming from researchers who have more experience of hosting online events. This webinar will provide a platform for scientists and scholars to share their findings and innovative ideas in various areas of chemical and Physical Sciences. Simultaneously, they also provide podium for scholars and Industries to share latest innovations. It serves as a cradle for genesis of new ideas pertaining to novel possibilities in various fields.

Instructions for Applicants

1. It is mandatory for all participants to register on Google form link.
2. Online webinar will be conducted on Zoom Apps.
